Attendance sheet for aa meetings

An anonymous alcoholics (AA) login/attendance sheet is a unified form used to record participation in AA meetings. Whether you are authorized to participate or just trying to maintain good habits, this sheet is an easy way to keep all appointments logged in in one place. This sheet should contain only a few basic details. Each meeting should include: the name of group AA meeting Meeting date and time AA meeting place Signature of the Group Leader Confirms that you participated in critical information for all those who are legally obliged to attend the meetings. 1. Talk to your court official Make sure you understand your legal obligations. The requirement to attend hearings may come from a judge, parole or probation officer – and this is often instead of other more serious punishments. If faced with alcohol taxes, the court will try to assess the severity of any alcohol problems. You may be subject to pre-trial interviews and be screened for a drink. Once this assessment is complete, you will be given the power to participate in a certain number of meetings. 2. Download the login sheet Download this login sheet, print it out and take it to all appointments. To keep you safe, you can keep two sets of records on your computer, or otherwise back up meeting information so that you don't lose critical records. 3. List details about the meeting Make sure that you save all relevant meeting data, including the AA group name for each session, session, and its location. 4. Receive a signature of the Chairman after the meeting To confirm attendance details, obtain the signature of the chairman or other authorised representative of the meeting. 5. Submit the Login Page to your probation officer When you meet your attendance requirements, submit a login sheet.
